Thank you for your kind message. The work you are doing is amazing."

"Thank you for your time on the phone today, your wealth of knowledge and for the work that you do."

FOUNDER & CHAIR'S MESSAGE

As the Founder and Chair of the Islamophobia Register Australia, it is my privilege to share this year's Annual Report, reflecting on our progress, challenges, and strategic direction. This year has been particularly difficult as we faced an unprecedented rise in Islamophobia in the aftermath of Israel's war on Gaza. The surge in Islamophobic as well as Anti-Palestinian racism has been a stark reminder of the critical importance of our work in tracking, reporting, and addressing Islamophobia across Australia.

In response to these challenges, the Board has been more committed than ever to advancing our mission and vision. We held a pivotal Board Strategy Day, bringing our full board from across the country to strategise on how we will continue to drive our mission. I am immensely proud to have a board that represents the diversity of the Australian Muslim community including Muslims from a wide variety of culturally and racially marginalised backgrounds and representatives from both Sunni and Shia communities. Our mission, "to lead the national effort in tracking, reporting, and addressing Islamophobia through evidence-based research, integrated support, policy reform, and education," remains our guiding force as we navigate these complex times.

This year, we also appointed a new Executive Director Dr Nora Amath, taking over from Sharara Attai who commenced a period of parental leave. Nora's leadership and fresh perspectives have already begun to shape our strategic approach in our organisation's journey, and we are confident in her ability to drive our mission forward with renewed energy and focus.

We also farewelled Dr Derya Iner from our board and thanked her for her tireless efforts and dedication to the Register from its early days and for her ground-breaking work as the author of our first 4 Islamophobia in Australia Reports. We were also thrilled to announce, earlier this year, our collaboration with Monash University's Dr Susan Carland and a team of esteemed academics on our upcoming flagship research project. This partnership represents a major step forward in our evidence-based approach to combating Islamophobia. The research will provide invaluable insights that will inform our advocacy, policy recommendations, and educational efforts in the coming years.

Despite the difficulties we've faced, the Board remains optimistic about the future. Our collective resolve to create a safer and more inclusive Australia is stronger than ever. We look forward to continuing our work with all of you—our partners, supporters, and the broader community—as we strive to build a society where everyone, regardless of their faith, can live free from fear and discrimination.

Thank you for your continued support and commitment to this vital cause.

Sincerely,
Mariam Veiszadeh
Founder and Chair, Islamophobia Register Australia

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Friends- Salaam. Peace, blessings and mercy be upon you all.

It is an honour to address you for the first time as the Executive Director of the Islamophobia Register Australia (The Register). Having joined the organisation as an executive just over three months ago, I have been deeply moved by the commitment, resilience, and strength of our community. As I have settled into this role, I've had the privilege of witnessing firsthand the vital work we do in documenting, analysing, and combating Islamophobia across the nation.

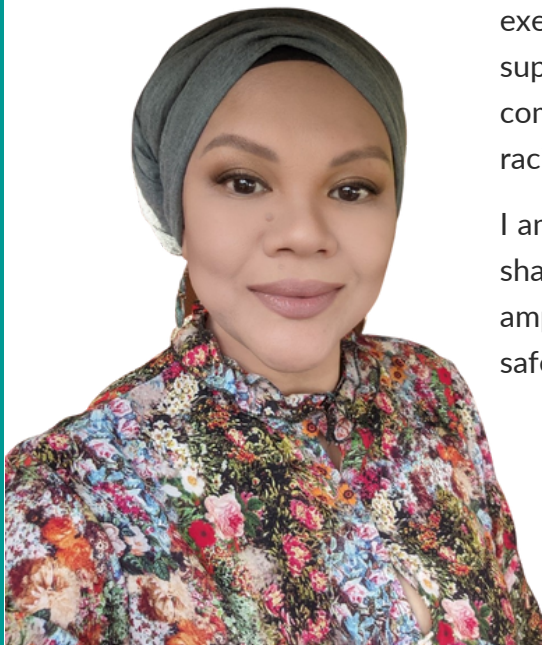

2023-2024 has been marked by both challenges and progress. Against the background of the horrors in Gaza, the sharp rise in Islamophobic incidents reminds us of the critical importance of our mission. At the same time, the growing recognition of our work, including being a recipient of the 2023 Community Organisation of the Year at the Australian Muslim Achievement Awards, and the increased support from both the public and private sectors have reinforced our resolve to stand against discrimination, hatred and intolerance.

In these early months of my tenure, I've been focused on listening and learning from our team, community partners, those who have been directly affected by Islamophobia and from you. In the first few months, I have managed to travel across Australia to hear from communities. Their stories and experiences have only strengthened my commitment to ensuring that the Register remains a powerful tool for advocacy, education and change. I am proud to lead an organisation that not only records these incidents but also provides an integrated wrap-around victim support service and a platform for the voices of those affected.

We have also strengthened our outreach through workshops and community programs aimed at improving awareness and fostering resilience. Our partnership with key academic institutions has enabled us to provide evidence-based insights, informing policymakers and the broader public about the realities of Islamophobia in Australia. Our strong connection to the diverse communities we work with and our impactful collaboration with key stakeholders in the sector ensure that we remain informed and engaged on critical issues.

I want to extend my deepest gratitude to our dedicated board, executive team, our tireless volunteers, our partners and our supporters. Your contributions are invaluable, and your commitment to standing against Islamophobia, specifically, and racism, generally, inspires us all.

I am especially thankful to those who report your incident to us; by sharing your lived experience of Islamophobia, you enable us to amplify and directly advocate for an Australia where everyone feels safe, respected and included.

Yours sincerely
Dr Nora Amath

ABOUT US

The Islamophobia Register Australia (The Register) is a pioneering not-for-profit organisation, serving as the first platform of its kind in the country to report, record, and analyse incidents of Islamophobia. For the past 10 years, The Register has partnered with universities to systematically collect and document hate incidents, establishing itself as the leading authority on tracking and combating Islamophobia in Australia.

Over the years, The Register has published 4 comprehensive national reports on Islamophobia, utilising a highly-developed methodology to analyse patterns and trends in both online and offline hate. Additionally, it has produced a separate preliminary report focused on Australian media coverage of Israel's war on Gaza (from 7th October-7th November 2023). These reports have been instrumental in informing both the media and the public about the prevalence and nature of Islamophobia in Australia and beyond.

OUR VISION

AN INCLUSIVE AND JUST AUSTRALIAN SOCIETY

OUR MISSION

TO LEAD THE NATIONAL EFFORT IN TRACKING, REPORTING AND ADDRESSING ISLAMOPHOBIA THROUGH EVIDENCE-BASED RESEARCH, INTEGRATED SUPPORT, POLICY REFORM AND EDUCATION

WHAT WE DO

The Register was established to provide public benevolent relief to victims of hate incidents, crimes, vilification, or discrimination. Our mission is to empower these individuals to regain a sense of control, agency, and certainty, ensuring that their dignity and place in the community are recognised and valued by society and Australia's institutions.

KEY ACTIVITIES

DATA COLLECTION

We systematically collect and analyse data on hate incidents, crimes, religious discrimination, and vilification, whether they occur online or in the physical world.

INDIVIDUAL SUPPORT SERVICES

We connect individuals affected by Islamophobia with free legal advice and culturally-sensitive mental health support. Our services also include advocacy on behalf of our clients.

PUBLICATION OF NATIONAL RESEARCH REPORTS

In collaboration with leading academics and universities, we publish highly-regarded academic reports on Islamophobia in Australia, contributing valuable insights to the field.

EDUCATION AND TRAINING

The Register produces a variety of educational resources including factsheets, posters, and videos on Islamophobia. We also conduct evidence-based workshops, tailored to different segments of the community.

POLICY AND LAW REFORM

We actively participate in policy and law reform processes by providing formal submissions, providing commentary on draft legislation, and engaging in inquiries and reviews initiated by the government or other organisations.

ADVOCACY

The Register engages in broader advocacy against Islamophobia through:

- Community engagement
- Media appearances and outreach
- Representations to government, law enforcement, and other institutions
- Providing a platform for Muslim women, who are disproportionately represented in our reports, to have their voices heard.
- Through our advocacy, we promote meaningful, national dialogue aimed at preventing future hate incidents, crimes, and unlawful discrimination based on race, religion, or other protected characteristics.

TREED

Akin to strong trees with deep-roots, the Register prides itself on being TREED in the Islamophobia space.

TRACK-RECORD

The Register has been successfully tracking Islamophobia and assisting victims for 10 years. The Register was the first organisation in Australia to develop and implement the concept of building a Register – recording, tracking and countering Islamophobia. Having built almost a decade of experience and know-how in this space, we are a trusted organisation by the Australian Muslim community to report their experiences, and have built an exceptional track-record for the tracking and tackling of Islamophobia in Australia.

EXPERTISE

Over a period of 10 years, the Register has built expertise on Islamophobia in Australia. We have published 4 academic reports on Islamophobia in Australia and a media report, written by Australia's leading experts on Islamophobia, entailing thorough and high-level analyses of trends in Islamophobia in Australia. We have also developed extensive networks in anti-racism and refined best practice in assisting victims of Islamophobic incidents get the support that they need.

ENDORSEMENT

The Register has the endorsement of a large number of Muslim organisations in various states, and has built an extensive network of partnerships and collaborations both within and outside of the Muslim community. We were recognised and honoured as the Community Organisation of the Year in 2023 at the Australian Muslim Achievement Awards.

DIVERSITY AND INCLUSIVITY

The Register represents the diversity of the Australian Muslim community in its Board of Directors and staff, including Muslims from a wide variety of cultural and linguistic backgrounds and representatives from both Sunni and Shia communities. We also represent anyone who experiences Islamophobia – all Muslims, irrespective of their race, sect, culture or background, as well as non-Muslims who may experience Islamophobia due to perceived faith. The Register is a truly national organisation, with its Board and staff hailing from various states in Australia including New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland and South Australia, and assisting Australian Muslims in every state and territory.

IMPACT SUMMARY

The Register's work has continued to have a profound impact on the lives of individuals and communities across Australia. By providing support to victims, advocating for their rights, and fostering a more informed and inclusive public discourse, we have helped restore a sense of dignity and belonging to those affected by Islamophobia. Our efforts have also contributed to a broader societal shift towards recognising and addressing the harms of discrimination.

As we reflect on the past year, we remain committed to our mission of combating Islamophobia and supporting those impacted by hate. The achievements of 2023-2024 have laid a strong foundation for future work, and we look forward to building on this momentum in the year ahead.

During this period, 749
Islamophobic incidents were reported to us at the Register.

Empowering the Australian Muslim Community against Islamophobia

On 2nd March 2023, The Register commemorated the UN International Day to Combat Islamophobia with a sold-out event centered around the theme Empowering the Australian Muslim Community Against Islamophobia. This significant gathering brought together a diverse group of community leaders, advocates and thought leaders to address the pressing issue of Islamophobia in Australia.

Featuring distinguished speakers such as Greens Deputy Leader, Dr. Mehreen Faruqi, Dr. Susan Carland, Hanan Dover, Mahmud Hawila, and Lina Jebeile, the event provided a platform for meaningful dialogue on the challenges and experiences of the Australian Muslim community. Through insightful and evidence-based discussions, participants explored strategies for combating Islamophobia, fostering resilience, and amplifying the voices of Muslims across the nation.

This event was more than just a conversation; it was a celebration of strength, unity and the ongoing efforts to create a more respectful and inclusive society.

Processing Islamophobia: Strategies for Mental Resilience Video Series

Experiencing Islamophobia can leave lasting emotional scars, with the mind often replaying the distressing event over and over. For many, getting the brain to stop this relentless cycle can be the hardest part of the entire experience. Understanding the profound impact this can have on one's mental health, The Register, in collaboration with Centre for Muslim Wellbeing, was proud to release the series focused on Islamophobia and Mental Health.

Whether you've personally faced Islamophobia or are supporting someone who has, this resource aims to equip you with the knowledge and strategies to navigate the aftermath of such incidents, fostering healing and strength. Together, we can work towards not only combating Islamophobia but also nurturing the mental wellbeing of our community in the face of these challenges.

Launch of the Activation of Bystanders Campaign

In our last Islamophobia in Australia Report (IV), we noticed a dramatic decrease in bystander reporting to The Register. In response, The Register collaborated with several partners to launch the Activation of Bystanders Campaign, which aimed to educate witnesses of Islamophobia on how to safely and effectively intervene and report incidents both during and after witnessing Islamophobia. As part of this campaign, a short educational video was produced, and posters and booklets were distributed across Australia to raise awareness and empower bystanders to take action against Islamophobia.

These can be summarised in the 4 Rs:

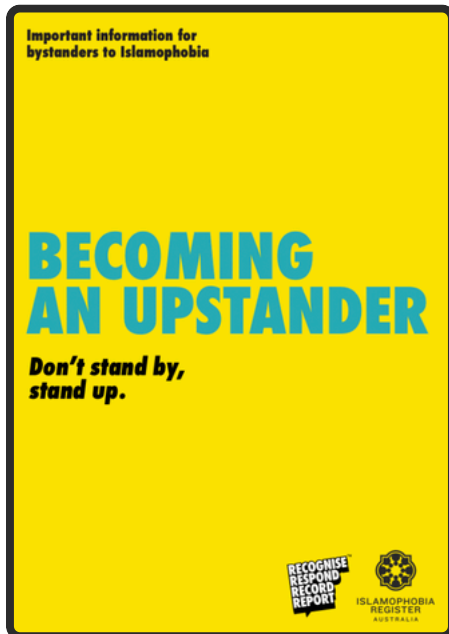

1. Recognising Islamophobia
2. Responding to Islamophobia
3. Recording Islamophobia
4. Reporting Islamophobia

Islamophobia & Youth Workshop

On 12th April 2024, The Register hosted a groundbreaking youth workshop designed for young Muslims aged 18-30, focusing on understanding, responding to, and coping with the pervasive issue of Islamophobia. This workshop marked the beginning of a series of such events set to take place across Australia, aimed at empowering Muslim youth with the knowledge, tools, and support they need to navigate the challenges of discrimination and prejudice.

The event brought together a diverse and influential panel of guest speakers, each of whom has made significant contributions in their respective fields while proudly representing their Muslim identity. Featured guest speakers at this event were Feras Basal (Winner of 'Survivor', 2024), Safia Arain (Actress, House of Gods), Osman Said (Winner of 'The Block', 2022) and Shereen Kassir (Digital Creator).

The workshop was not only a platform for learning and discussion but also an opportunity for young Muslims to connect, share their own experiences, and build a network of support. As the first of many workshops planned across the country, this event set a strong precedent for future initiatives, aiming to equip young Muslims with the confidence and resources needed to stand up against Islamophobia and contribute to a more inclusive and understanding society.
